

Station G Artifacts

This object has a different number of dots carved into each side.

This small, carved object resembles a pawn.

This is a track along which a ball might be rolled.

How might the people of Mohenjo-daro have used these objects?